Ohio man finds someone already buried in his grave

2 days ago

COLERAIN TOWNSHIP, Ohio (AP) — A southwest Ohio man who planned to be buried next his mother has found someone else already in his grave.

David L. Bingham says someone who shares his name has taken over his would-be final resting place. He says he hadn't visited his mother's grave since 2005 and was surprised to find someone had been buried next to her in 2006.

Bingham says the cemetery admitted its error and offered to move his mother or the other body. The cemetery also said it would have Bingham's cremated ashes buried in his mother's grave.

He says none of those options works for him.

The two David Bingham's are not related.

Colerain Township is about 20 miles northwest of Cincinnati.
